About us

Recovering textile craft work has always been my central mission. After studying fashion design at Buenos Aires, and making a specialisation at Central Saint Martins, London, I decided to undertake a journey through the vast world of textiles.

My trips to India and Japan submerged me into the immense culture of fabric and dying treatments. My work has a strong anchor in the organic, each colour palette and texture is inspired by nature.

Through the development of handmade prints, AGAVE embraces home and ready to wear products and is also involved in interior design projects.

All our products are designed and crafted at my studio, located in the multicultural and authentic neighbourhood of Villa Crespo, Buenos Aires.

Collection SS21

Pandemic forced stillness made me reconsider the need of leaving the city behind and its dull colors. The idea of escaping for some weeks and getting into nature finally evolved in a short trip to the mountains of Cordoba, Argentina, where I live.

While on the river shores, I was fascinated by the textures of precious stones I stumbled upon. I noticed they were conformed by lots of different colored sedimentary layers. This strata inspired my new stripe collection, putting the accent on colours and a more vibrant atmosphere.

The strength of this collection is how it manages to merge and interrelate with nature's landscape. Being an extension of it in some way.

All our products are designed to generate the least amount of waste as possible, following the premise of sustainable development and awareness.
