 ULTRALIGHT MODELS *****

ULTRALIGHT NATURAL

Regular silicone breast forms, worn within a pocketed bra, even though presenting approximately the same weight as a natural breast, tend to cause discrete pain in the shoulder, due to the fact that virtually all the weight of the form has to be supported by the bra's shoulder strap, as opposed to a natural breast, whose weight is being evenly distributed throughout the chest wall, where it is naturally attached to.

The pain in the shoulder may cause a viciously faulty posture which in turn may jeopardize the normal alignment of the spine. This is especially a problem with users of larger breast forms. EXSIL NATURAL Ultralight breast form features about 20-25% less weight than a regular breast form and helps therefore to alleviate the above mentioned symptoms. Mobility and touch are unsurpassed features of this unique product line. Properties similar to Tria Ultralight, just different shape of breast form.

 SELF ADHERING BREAST FORM *****

SELF ADHERING BREAST FORM – TEAR / TRIANGULAR / TRIA ULTRALIGHT

This model has been designed to be attached directly to the skin, absorbing multidirectional forces produced by the body's natural movement, providing a union prosthesis / body more synchronized. This prosthesis should always be used with external support, a bra or bra that holds the body because it does not have enough grips to be self-sustaining. NOTE: The extra patches are sold separately.
