About Plakortis

There is only one earth, so we spend every waking moment, searching for solutions to stop the next mass extinction; the annihilation of humanity by our own hands.

Plakortis Business' Sustainability Environmental Coaching Services aims to de-compartmentalise environment and economic growth. Registered in 2018 Plakortis is managed and operated by seasoned natural resource, and socio-economic experts who have decades of regional experience in conservation, disaster risk reduction, and climate change mitigation. These are the experts whose work contributed to the positive environmental shifts in the way we communicate; all things environment. Now, we are taking a new approach to solving ecological decline, and manage economic risk.

Nature of Plakortis

Through coaching and partnership we ensure sustainability and environment is built into the culture of business models across the region. We also help companies stay in business by providing guidance and information for adaption to projected changes in policies, and environmental shifts that will influence consumer choices.

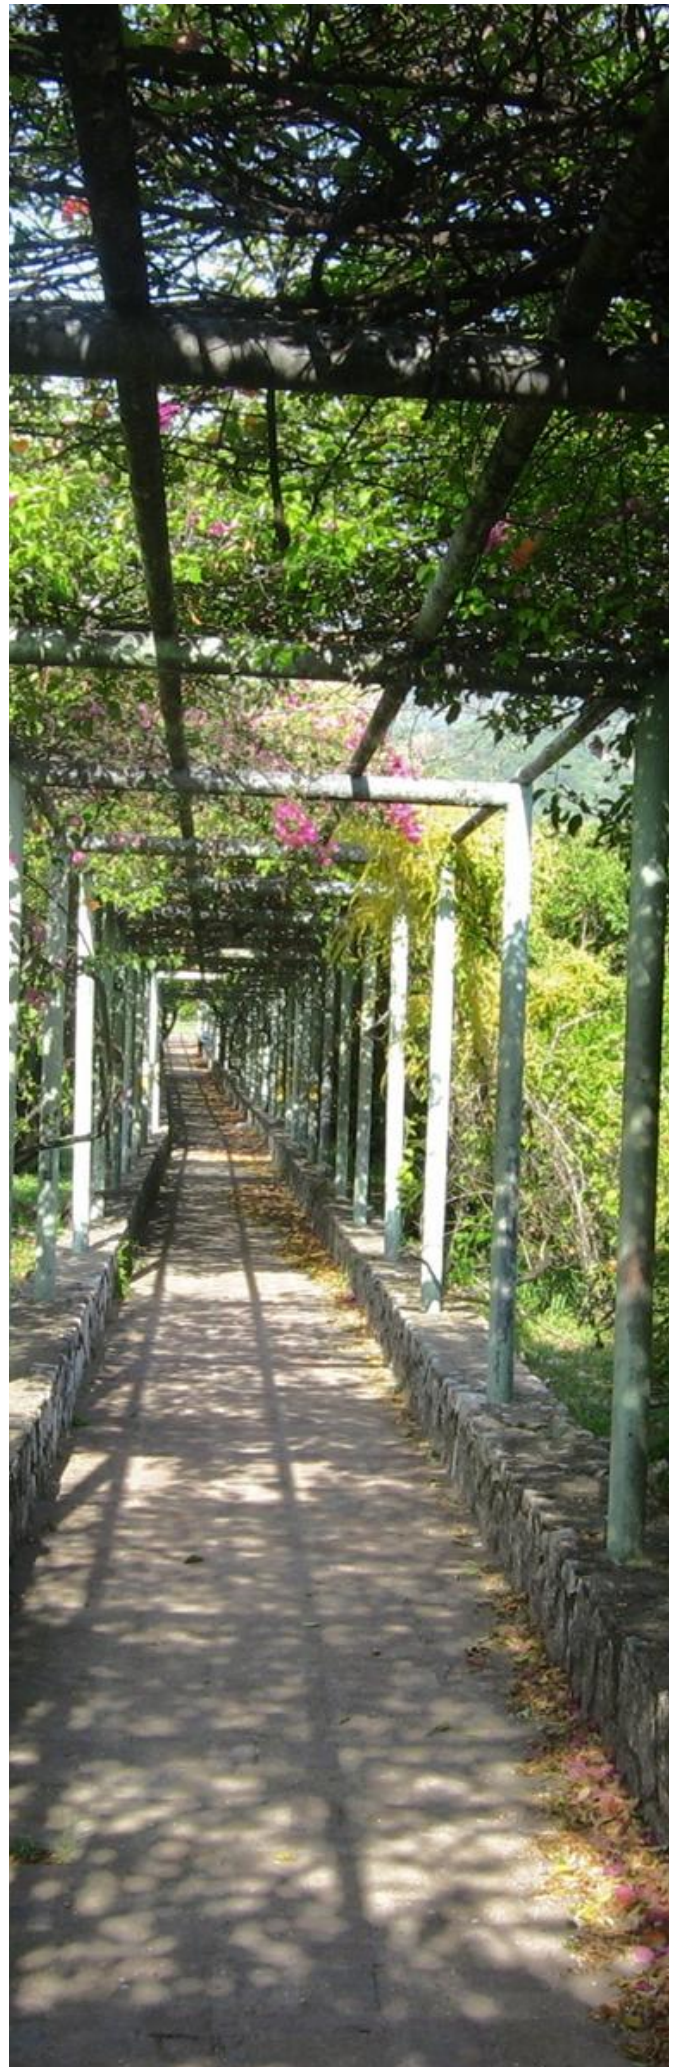

Our clients

We are focused on building a relationship with businesses at all levels, and sector. We have particularly tailored our products to suit entrepreneurs, and small to medium size entities (SMEs), who have opportunity and advantage of encasing sustainability and continuity within the core of their operations.

Our strategy

We meet you clients where they are; empowering individuals to take social accountability seriously, and implement eco-friendly practices; leading to greater resilience, growth and continuity for the business.

Clients are engaged at every stage of their operations: from concept, launch and operational support for start ups to restructuring and implementation for existing businesses. We move companies from having high environmental footprint to sustainability; leveraging and supporting the Blue/Green economic agenda. We strive for zero waste; acceptable energy use and low carbon footprint; pollution reduction and waste management; social accountability, climate smart businesses; and an environment fostering staff and customer satisfactions. Our approach is radial. Because we need sound environmental practices to go beyond workspace, and include transformation in homes home, and community.

Plakortis: Guiding Principle

Plakortis’s ground breaking concept is based on two fundamental facts: the vulnerability of the Caribbean Islands and the rapidly changing environment that threatens the existence of the our paradise landscape; and the unique social fabric of the region. for decades the business community has been vastly excluded in the fight against environmental pollution and climate change. We are changing norms and gaining results by engendering a corporate understanding of the relationship between economic sustainability and natural resources.

Our mandate: To be the no. 1 environmental sustainability ally for the business community across the Caribbean, and in the fight against climate change. Nemo resideo:

changing the fate of businesses by leveraging business growth transformation in direct alignment with the Blue/Green Economic Agenda
