ABOUT US

Wiltshire Consulting leverages the experiences and reputation of its founder, Wayne Wray, to assess the viability of a business idea or proposition and determine a successful plan for establishing a sustainable commercial venture. With this approach, we create value for Caribbean public and private organizations to realize their potential by supporting the growth of businesses within the region and establish themselves globally.

Wiltshire Consulting has engaged a number of professionals/associates, professional associations with legal firms, licensed financial institutions and multinational organizations in business alliances that will provide it with the depth, scope and competent resources required in projects undertaken.

Engagements are conducted by our experts based on the unique needs and requirements of each client. The end results are discussed and agreed upon prior to the contracted engagement. With projects delivered in several countries, our experts are well poised to offer a range of professional services across several industries.
